"You don't want all your data in one place and with one organisation, in case something goes wrong."

Jeroen van Can

ICT & IBP adviser, MosaLira and Kom Leren

The situation	For years the foundations relied on Microsoft's default retention. With the GDPR and the education framework for information security and privacy (IBP) getting stricter, and cyber risks growing, that was no longer enough.
Why Immutec	After a broad comparison, and on the advice of Charles Hunfeld of APS IT-diensten, they chose us. The deciding points: an immutable copy outside Microsoft, and a backup of the Entra ID and Intune configuration as well as user data.
What we did	A managed Microsoft 365 backup in our own data centre. The foundations ask for a restore through our ticket system and say what has to come back and where. Periodic test restores, such as a recent OneDrive account, give them evidence for their auditors, and we document retention and storage location.
The result	Their data no longer depends on one platform, ransomware can't touch the backup copy, and they have the documentation for IBP and the GDPR without needing their own backup specialist.
